Dear Cory Bleeker:

Bleeker & Vigesaa came to the table well prepared to help us reduce cost without compromising our facility. James was able to apply his vast knowledge of value engineering to our project allowing us to meet our budget. He also distributed detailed notes, project plans, RFIs, as well as other critical information that kept us well informed. When it came to the physical construction of the building Cory was a fixture. He and his team were there sun up to sun down, working weekends if need be to get the project completed on time. Cory not only came to us with the challenges he came across, he also came to us with several different solutions. We learned very quickly to trust his opinion and recommendations.

Thank you,

Brian Cennamo
